Hosted Trip: 3 nights, 2 fishing days

DAY 1

Arrive to Punta Arenas Airport and drive over 1,5 hours to the Penitente River Ranch (Hostería Estancia Río Penitente) and stay by the pristine private river that spans 10 km. Curious llamas will welcome you along the road towards our XIX century victorian house. The ranch, founded by Scottish settlers, is still owned by the 5th generation of the family, has an extension of 12.000 hectares and it combines sheep breeding, fieldwork and tourism.

The main house conserves all its original furniture and decoration. Fireplaces, high and engraved ceilings, mirrors, black and white pictures and the perfect background music makes you travel in time back to the 1890s. Feel free to relax and enjoy your stay at our inn, and prepare yourself for the adventure that is yet to come.

DAY 2-3

The Río Penitente, tributary of the Río Gallegos in Argentina, presents the perfect conditions for wading fishing, enjoying unique landscapes and exclusive access. We start the day with a generous breakfast at the Inn and equip ourselves to face the river. Cold water, a series of meanders, diverse depth pools, flats and rapids shape the Brown Trout habitat, this affluent's main species, and also Searun Brown Trout, with its characteristic size and silver colour. This fish comes up once a year from the Atlantic Ocean through the Río Gallegos, being therefore Penitente's highest fishing trophy. These varied conditions and Patagonia's inhospitable and unpredictable weather make Penitente a very challenging river, where you can try different flyfishing techniques.

Colourful sunsets remind you that the day is coming to an end and that at our cozy inn the lamb is reaching its desired cooking point. After dinner, you may enjoy starry and peaceful nights along a warm cup of Chilean wine.

DAY 4

While our chef prepares your breakfast at the Inn, lay back and delight yourself with Patagonia's stunning scenery for one last time. Transportation to the airport may be arranged in case you require it.
